

Title	Social markers of acculturation : building a shared understanding in Japan
Sub Title
Author	Komisarof, Adam
Publisher	慶應義塾大学
Publication year	2018
Jtitle	学事振興資金研究成果実績報告書 (2017.)
JaLC DOI
Abstract	Using the Keio Grant for the Development of Academic Research, my research about Social Markers of Acculturation ("SMA") has advanced in two ways : 1. First, I was able to complete a study about which SMA Japanese people expect immigrants to master to be socially accepted in Japanese society and workplaces. 2. Second, I could move closer to developing a quantitative measure of acceptance in Japanese society and workplaces for immigrants as well as long-term foreign residents of Japan. For #1 above, I completed a paper, "Constructing Who Is Japanese : A Study of Social Markers of Acculturation in Japan" which is now being reviewed for publication in an international journal. I gave presentations about this research to the following organizations this academic year: Birkbeck College, University of London (March 9, 2018), Nissan Institute of Japanese Studies, University of Oxford, (March 8, 2018), SIETAR (Society for Intercultural Education, Training, and Research) Japan (January 19, 2018), Anthropology of Japan in Japan (AJJ) (December 9, 2017), Institute for the Liberal Arts, Doshisha University (December 8, 2017), and the International Academy for Intercultural Research (June 27, 2017). For #2 above, I finished a paper, "A New Framework of Workplace Acculturation: The Need to Belong and Constructing Ontological Interpretive Spaces," which was accepted for publication in the journal Intercultural Communication for the September, 2018 issue. I presented this research twice, to 2 separate audiences (only for Fellows of the society on June 25 and then for general members on June 26) at the international biennial conference for the International Academy for Intercultural Research (June 25 and 26, 2017) in New York City. Also, I wrote the questions for the instrument which is based on the theory described in this paper. After writing the first draft of questions, I circulated this draft to a panel of experts in my field, who then rated each question for clarity and conceptual appropriateness. I followed this with a statistical test to determine the most highly-rated questions, and based on these results, finalized the survey. Then, the survey was translated into Japanese (through a paid translator) and uploaded online (through a paid specialist). This specialist in surveys and statistics also assisted me in running the necessary statistical tests to determine which survey questions were rated highest by the panel of experts in my academic field. I also consulted with him about statistical tests which would be best to run on the survey data once it has been compiled. Finally, I began to recruit participants for this study.
Notes
Genre	Research Paper
URL	https://koara.lib.keio.ac.jp/xoonips/modules/xoonips/detail.php?koara_id=2017000001-20170251

慶應義塾大学学術情報リポジトリ(KOARA)に掲載されているコンテンツの著作権は、それぞれの著作者、学会または出版社/発行者に帰属し、その権利は著作権法によって保護されています。引用にあたっては、著作権法を遵守してご利用ください。

The copyrights of content available on the Keio Associated Repository of Academic resources (KOARA) belong to the respective authors, academic societies, or publishers/issuers, and these rights are protected by the Japanese Copyright Act. When quoting the content, please follow the Japanese copyright act.

研究代表者	所属	文学部	職名	教授	補助額	300 (A) 千円
	氏名	コミサロフ アダム	氏名 (英語)	Adam Komisarof
研究課題 (日本語)
Social Markers of Acculturation: Building a Shared Understanding in Japan
研究課題 (英訳)
Social Markers of Acculturation: Building a Shared Understanding in Japan
1. 研究成果実績の概要
英文参照
2. 研究成果実績の概要 (英訳)
Using the Keio Grant for the Development of Academic Research, my research about Social Markers of Acculturation (“SMA”) has advanced in two ways: 1. First, I was able to complete a study about which SMA Japanese people expect immigrants to master to be socially accepted in Japanese society and workplaces. 2. Second, I could move closer to developing a quantitative measure of acceptance in Japanese society and workplaces for immigrants as well as long-term foreign residents of Japan. For #1 above, I completed a paper, “Constructing Who Is Japanese: A Study of Social Markers of Acculturation in Japan” which is now being reviewed for publication in an international journal. I gave presentations about this research to the following organizations this academic year: Birkbeck College, University of London (March 9, 2018), Nissan Institute of Japanese Studies, University of Oxford, (March 8, 2018), SIETAR (Society for Intercultural Education, Training, and Research) Japan (January 19, 2018), Anthropology of Japan in Japan (AJJ) (December 9, 2017), Institute for the Liberal Arts, Doshisha University (December 8, 2017), and the International Academy for Intercultural Research (June 27, 2017). For #2 above, I finished a paper, “A New Framework of Workplace Acculturation: The Need to Belong and Constructing Ontological Interpretive Spaces,” which was accepted for publication in the journal Intercultural Communication for the September, 2018 issue. I presented this research twice, to 2 separate audiences (only for Fellows of the society on June 25 and then for general members on June 26) at the international biennial conference for the International Academy for Intercultural Research (June 25 and 26, 2017) in New York City. Also, I wrote the questions for the instrument which is based on the theory described in this paper. After writing the first draft of questions, I circulated this draft to a panel of experts in my field, who then rated each question for clarity and conceptual appropriateness. I followed this with a statistical test to determine the most highly-rated questions, and based on these results, finalized the survey. Then, the survey was translated into Japanese (through a paid translator) and uploaded online (through a paid specialist). This specialist in surveys and statistics also assisted me in running the necessary statistical tests to determine which survey questions were rated highest by the panel of experts in my academic field. I also consulted with him about statistical tests which would be best to run on the survey data once it has been compiled. Finally, I began to recruit participants for this study.
3. 本研究課題に関する発表
発表者氏名 (著者・講演者)	発表課題名 (著書名・演題)	発表学術誌名 (著書発行所・講演学会)	学術誌発行年月 (著書発行年月・講演年月)
Adam Komisarof	A New Framework of Workplace Acculturation: The Need to Belong and Constructing Ontological Interpretive Spaces	Journal of Intercultural Communication (Society for Intercultural Education, Training and Research—SIETAR)	September, 2018 (accepted for publication)
Adam Komisarof	Becoming “One of Us”: Social Markers of Acculturation in Japan and Five Countries	Birkbeck College, University of London	March 9, 2018
Adam Komisarof	Is it Possible to “Become” Japanese? Social Markers of Acculturation and Gaining Acceptance for Immigrants in Japan	Nissan Institute of Japanese Studies Nissan Seminar, University of Oxford	March 8, 2018
Adam Komisarof	Can We “Become Japanese”? Social Markers of Acculturation and How We Decide Who Is “One of Us”	SIETAR (Society for Intercultural Education, Training, and Research) Japan Evening Workshop	January 19, 2018
Adam Komisarof	Social Markers of Acculturation and Immigrant Belonging in Japan	Anthropology of Japan in Japan (AJJ) Fall 2017 Conference	December 9, 2017

Adam Komisarof	Social Markers of Acculturation, Transformations of National Identification, and "Becoming Japanese"	Institute for the Liberal Arts, Doshisha University	December 8, 2017
Adam Komisarof	What Does It Take to "Become" Japanese? A New Generation's Perceptions of Social Markers of Acculturation	SIETAR (Society for Intercultural Education, Training, and Research) Japan Annual Conference	October 7, 2017